118TH CONGRESS IN REVIEW

Dear Neighbor,

When I came to Congress, I promised to always advocate for the issues that are most important to you and your family, and that's a promise that will never change.

As I reflect on the end of my first term and look toward serving you in the new Congress, I've been hearing from many who are worried about what the new Administration and changes in Washington will mean for us in California.

I will always strive to find common ground and work on a bipartisan basis with those who are genuinely interested in solving problems. That means creating an economy that works for all of us, protecting our climate and reproductive rights, making health care accessible for all, and addressing the cost of living for everyday Americans. I will also push back against extremism or efforts to undermine our democracy.

As your representative, it's important for me to keep you informed about the issues I'm working on and the services my office will continue to provide for you regardless of who has the majority in Congress or who sits in the White House.

DELIVERING RESULTS FOR FAMILIES

in San Mateo and San Francisco Counties

Meeting with Local Leaders, Businesses and Nonprofits

My staff and I visited cities across the region to hear firsthand from community leaders, businesses and neighbors. We toured dozens of sites to learn about the needs in the community and the visionary work being done to address quality of life issues. We also received updates on community projects that are benefiting from the federal funding I advocated for in Congress. I look forward to more Day in the District visits in 2025.
